GEN. GRANT'S REMAINS AT NEW YORK.

Scenes En Route-The Funeral Procession-Ghastly Appearance of the Corpse-Lying in State in City Hall, New York.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 5 .- The miles of people which began passing the re-mains of Gen. Geant in the senate corridor at the capitol when the doors were first thrown open yesterday afternoon had not diminished at midnight last night. The solid line of visitors entering from Washington avenue split at the foot of the market and the respect to the control of the carbot and the respect to the control of the carbot and the respect to the control of the carbot and the respect to the respec foot of the casket, and in two files talion. streamed out through the State street portals until 1 o'clock this morning. Altogether, the remains were viewed by 77,200 persons.

The jolting of the body over the cob-blestone pavements on its passage to the capitol had no good effect. The lower jaw of the general's face is being kept in place, it is believed, by strong rubber bands. The face, as described last night, has the same remains in New York. Those in charge say that there is no doubt but this will be done. But there is some ground for apprehension.

Members of both branches of the state legislature assembled in their respective chambers this morning. Committees were appointed to attend the funeral of Gen. Grant, and suitable resolutions were then adopted.

The committee of 100 prominent citizens of New York, appointed by Mayor Grace to represent New York city at Albany, and to accompany the remains from this city to New York, arrived this morning and were assigned to places in the procession to the railway station. At about 11:30 a. m. the great doors of the capitol swung open on the State street side, and the guard of honor from street side, and the guard of honor from U.S. Grant Post were seen by the waiting crowds with the remains inside the

The train was scheduled to leave Albany at 12:30 p. m., and two minutes before that time the occupants of the various cars had been placed. The body of the dead general rested on the black dais in the "Woodlawn." The guard of honor had mounted its first detail at the head and foot of the casket. AT NEW YORK. New York, Aug. 5.-The Grant funeral train arrived at the Grand Central depot at 5 p. m. The catafalque and canopy aged at Mount McGregor reached the city hall this morning, and was early placed in position in the cor-ridor immediately behind the rear iron gate The marble flooring surrounding it was covered with rubber carpet, designed to deaden the tread of the tens of thousands of persons who will pass around the bier while the body of the deceased lies there. A squad of police was stationed throughout the building, and all persons were excluded therefrom excepting those whose business caused a deviation from the rale.

THE ARRANGEMENTS are being attended to with as much haste as possible, though many inquiries as to where the various organizations to take part in the obsequies will locate themeives on the morning of the funeral and their places in the line must remain unanswered. All these details will have to be arranged to night, and knowledge thereof will be communicated to the bodies taking part through the press. At the deput the escort was ready. The coffin was borne by members of U. S. Grant Post to the vehicle in waiting,

S. Grant Post to the venicle in waiting, members of the Loyal Legion and of Wheeler Post accompanying. Behind these marched company A of the 5th ar-tillery, under command of Col. Beck, and company E, 12th infantry, Maj. Brows. Gen. Hancock and his staff had left the train from the opposite side, and passed through the gate in Forty-third street, where horses were in waiting. Here they mounted and galloped to the head of the procession on Fifth avenue, head of the procession on First avenue, below Thirty-fourth street. The three sons of Gen. Graut, Col. Fred. adopted:

Resolved, That we, the ex-confederate soldiers for ourselves and our comrades, unite with the most heartfelt sympathy in the national tribute of admiration and grief oliered to the memory of Gen. Grant by the entire people of the United States.

Resolved, That we, the survivors of the southern armies, have stronger reasons than all others to appreciate most gratefully the magnanimity and generosity of the great leader of the Union forces in the day of his triumph, and the steadfastness with which he resisted all attempts to prosecute those who were protected by his capitulation. He was as generous in victory as he was great and successful in war, and it is to the generosity and magnanimity of his noble heart that America is the only land under heaven in which a rigantic civil war was closed without any lives being taken in revenge or any of the conquered being doomed to imprisonment and exile.

Resolved. That while fully acknowledging the military ability and genious of Gen. Grant, we consider his modesty, magnanimity, and generosity in victory as the attribute which, above all, entities him to rank with the greatest—a soldier, and as a man. That to the widow and family of the illustrious dead we offer the sincere and sender tribute of our sympathy and our grief—and we feel that if his generous soul is cognizant of earthly scenes, he rejoices in wincessing the union of hearts of those who wore the blue and the gray, and of all the people of the entire country in doing honor to his memory."

secretary of the Virginia Base Ball Association and bookkeeper for J. L. Schoolcraft, broker, disappeared from this city. Various causes for his absence were assigned, but it now appears that he held a key to the safety box in the vault of the state bank in which Mark Downey, a retired merchant, kept $38,000 in North Carolina and Petersburg, class "B," Riddleberger bonds. Carpenter stole these, and is supposed now to be in Canada. Some of the bonds have come back here from Baltimore, where they were sold.

Mr. Downey stated to day that individually he did not care about his loss; that the stolen bonds, together with that the stolen bonds, together with $2,000 more, making in all $40,000, had been put aside, the interest thereon to be paid annually to the Confederate Soldiers' Home, lately established at Richmond. He further said that a cottage which he is having built at the Soldiers' Home would be completed, but that the annuity which he desired to give to the inmates of the home would not, he regretted to say, be forthcoming un-less the stolen bonds are recovered. The box is which Mr. Downey kept his securities was deposited in the vault of the State Bank of Virginia. There were duplicate keys to this box. Mr.

Downey kept one, and the other was in Schoolcraft's box. Schoolcraft also kept his box in the State Bank vault, and Carpenter [was intr with carrying it to and the bank, which afforded ample opportunity of getting into Mr. Downey's bog with the duplicate key. Mr. Schoolcraft declined to make any statement in the matter, saying that he was not prepared at this time to say any thing in regard to it. He stated, however, that Carpenter had been in his employment a number of years, having filled the resposible position of book keeper, and was always regarded as a correct and upright man. Carpenter is about 28 years of age, and has a wife and two children. A few days ago Mr. Schoolcraft received a letter from Carpenter, in which he acknowledged hav-ing taken the negotiable paper. His ex-planation was that he had been speculating very largely, and that the money had been used to pay his losses, In the letter to Mr. Schoolcraft, Carpenter confesses having at different times in the past robbed him of $4,000, and that he left in Schoolcraft's safe $5,000 to pay that amount, with interest to date. Mr. Schoolcraft, however, deto date. Mr. Schoolgraft, however, de clined to keep the money, and turned i over to Mr. Downey, believing that it was part of the funds stolen from that gentleman. It is currently reported that young woman accompanied Carpenter n his flight.

UNSUCCESSFUL ATTACK ON THE BRITISH MINISTRY.

Atlantic Cable Commemoration-Excitement in Zanzibar-Cholera Record-British Admiralty Deficiency-Alleged Intrigue.

LONDON, Aug. 5 .- Mr. Henry Labouchere, in the house of commons this afternoon, moved, and Sir Wilfred Lawon, radical member for Carlisle, and Sir George Campbell, liberal member for Kircaldy, seconded the motion, that the house reject the appropriation bill until the present government explain their Egyptian policy. The terms upon which the government had issued the Egyptian the government had issued the Egyptian loan, said Mr. Labouchere, were a public scandal. Sir Michael Hicks Beach, chancellor of the exchequer, replying for the minority, said that the government had sent Sir Henry Drummond Wolff as special envoy to the sultan. The last five years had greatly increased England's obligations toward Egypt. While the government must refuse to state at present what instructions Sir Henry the government must refuse to state at present what instructions Sir Henry Drummond Wolff carried with him or what the object of his mission was, the speaker could state in general terms that the government's policy is to put Egypt on a solid footing with regard to external defense, finance and internal administration. Our policy is to gradually give security and finance and internal administration. Our policy is to gradually give security and freedom to Egypt's independent action in the future. The chancellor also said he could at present make no statement regarding the question of evacuating Egypt. But concerning the defenses of the country and the position of affairs at Suakin, he could say both were in a most unsatisfactory condition. So far as the Egyptian loan was concerned Sir Michael Hicks-Beach declared that the Gladstone government had suggested to Germany that the whole loan of $45,000,000 should be offered for tenders in Germany, but that Germany had objected to the pro-posal because such a method of placing national loans was unknown in Germany. In conclusion Sir Michael said that the Marquis of Huntington, war minister of the late liberal government, had indersed Sir Henry Drummond Wolff for his fitness for the mission intrusted to him by the present government. ATLANTIC CABLE COMMEMORATION.

LONDON, Aug. 5 - A dispatch received here this afternoon states that considera-ble excitement exists in Zanzibar, owing to a conflict being imminent between the German colonists and the natives. The Germans are determined on punishing the natives for alleged aggressions, and have enrolled themselves into military companies preparatory to giving battle to the latter. The colonists have also advised the home government of the state of affairs, and asked for re-enforcements. Several German men-of-war are in the vicinity, and will render assistance to the colonists. He said the tory estimates differed from those previously recorded by the liberal government by a sum sufficient for the admiralty expenses for a period of six weeks. The gossips expected a great scandal to be exposed. The friends of Lord Northbrook, Lord Ham-ilton's predecessor in office, explained that the events of the past year had neces itated such frequent trips abroad on the part of the first lord of the ad-miralty as to prevent him from exercising the necessary supervision over the accounts of his department. The house of commons appointed a committee to investigate the circumstances upon which Lord George Hamilton based his state-ment. This committee to-day handed in its report. The raport exonerates Lord Northbrook from all imputation except that of carelessness. It accounts for the deficiency in his admiralty estimates by saying that his calculations were too san-guine, and induced him to ask for smaller credits than a more rigorous inquiry would have shown were necessary. The report urgently recommends a more rigid financial supervision of the accounts of the entire admiralty department.

GEN. SMITH'S DEFENSE.

THE COURT-MARTIAL DRAWING TO A CLOSE-IMPORTANT CORRESPONDENCE.

In the Smith court-martial yesterday Paymaster General Smith continued to testify in his own behalf. The witness testified that he awarded the mattress contract in accordance with an order of the Secretary of the Navy. In the course of the trial the defense learned that Commodore Schley, who is now acting in Gen. Smith's place, had extended con-tracts, and they called for the corresp ondence. It was sent up yesterday, and showed that Seth M. Milliken, contractor for flamel, and another contractor for silk bandkerchiefs, asked for extensions of time, saying they were unable to deliver within the time specified in their contracts. The bureau, as managed by Gen. Smith's successor, refused to actually extend the time by order, but notified the contractors that if they would deliver the goods within thirty would deliver the goods within thirty days after the expiration of the contract they would be received. Something of a sensation was caused by the fact that this correspondence showing an extension of contract was sent up in response to the call of the defense, but accom-panying it was an order of the bureau revoking the order or permission of ex-

The correspondence consisted of a let-ter from Mr. Milliken asking for an ex-tension of his contract for flamel. The present acting head of the bureau, Commodore Schley, replied to the pay in-spector at New York as follows: spector at New York as follows:

In case the contract is not completed at that date, the flannel, as required, will be purchased in open market at the cost of the contractor.

This was an actual extension of the contract for thirty days, and when the defense called for the correspondence and developed the fact the letters were sent to the court with an order revoking the extension which Commodore Schley

The Nationals turned the tables on the Newarks yesterday, and defeated them in a five inning game by the score of 5 to However, it turned out to be a very unfortunate contest for the home nine, as Barr was hit by a pitched ball in the second inning and temporarily disabled, This accident, bappening at the time when the home nine were most in need of Barr's services in order to successfully cope with the strong Norfolk and Virginia clubs, is very unlucky, and as Barr will not be on hand to do battle with these two nines, home patrons may terday, and as he has always pitched a winning game against the Richannds heretofore, there is still room for hope. The audience, when the game was called at the end of the fifth unning, manifested much ill-humor, and many demanded that the game should go on until nine innings had been played. The home management stated that the reason for calling the game was for order to catch for calling the game was in order to catch the night boat for Norfolk, and as there has been several games called at the end of the sixth and seventh inning this season for the very same reason, it seems rather late in the day to raise such a needless howl as was done yesterday. Perhaps if some of the loud-mouther gentry who occupy reats on "Wall street" were made to keep quiet, or be dealt with in a summary manner, there would be less kicking and better order on the home grounds. As we understand it policemen are on hand to keep the peace, and not to stand round like cigar signs, as in the case at Capitol ark.

The game was interesting so far as it went, and some fine fielding was done by White, Gladmon, Grady, and L. Smith. Gladmon aroused much enthusiasm by knocking the ball over center field fence for a home run. Trott and Burch also did some good batting. Home patrons applauded Powell liberally for the fine manner in which he pitched the last four innings of the game, and he may yet prove a puzzler to his opponents. Hick-man seemed to be suffering from a sore arm and consequently did not prove as effective as he usually is.

The Nationals play in Norfolk to day,
Friday, and Saturday, and in Richmond Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, after which they return home for a series with the Norfolks and Virginias, Yesterday's score follows: NATIONALS.

POSTAL REFORM.

A NEW SYSTEM OF MOVING THE MAILS TO BE PUT IN OPERATION.

A new method for facilitating the mail service throughout the country at a less cost, it is said, than for many years has been adopted by Second Assistant Postmaster General Knott. The clerks of this office have been kept very busy in going over the routes and combined that the intention to export had been abandoned and the government should assess the taxes due upon the spirits and take steps to collect the same with interest, as provided by circular 282.

"Second. I am of opinion that the spirits covered by exportation bond, after the failure to withdraw them, and after the forfeiture of the bond, are liable to distraint under requirements. clerks of this office have been kept very busy in going over the routes and comparing the cost of carrying mail between specified points, and the amount of revenues contributed by each. If the sections do not transact enough business to warrant the service received by them a saving is to be made by cutting down either the number of times the mail is carried between them or ro-establishing the service, so as to take in three or more posterifices on one trip at a slight increase in the cost. Since Mr. Knott's advent into the office of second assistant postmaster general, Since Mr. Knott's advent into the office of second assistant postmaster general, it is claimed that his policy in thus cutting down routes and service for carrying the mail has been the means of saving a good many thousands of dollars. The policy was mapped out by the President and Postmaster General Vilas during the early days of the administration, and, it is said, has resulted in a benefit both to citizens and the government, the number of complaints being limited, and coming from unimportant quarters.

"It is to be said, as a general rale in matters of this kind, that the construction of these statutes must be such as is most favorable to their enforcement. There is no liberal interpretation in favor of the individual to be indulged in, but as statutes for the accomplishment of great public purposes they must be construed in a manner to reach those purposes, and to carry out the intention of the legislature in passing them."

The Attorney General here cites several opinions, and continues: "As a

A WHISKY RULING.

THREE CENTS.

THE ATTORNEY GENERAL ON WITHDRAWAL BONDS.

He Holds Them Forfeited and the Duties Accruing if the Conditions Are Not Complied With in Time.

Attorney General Garland has sent to he Secretary of the Treasury an opinion n reply to certain inquiries relating to whisky bonded for exportation, in which he says: "I make the following extract from your letter of the 28th ultimo: Under the provisions of section 3330 Revised Statutes, the act of June 9, 1874, amendatory thereof (18 statute, 64), the holders of distilled spirits on which the tax has not been paid are allowed to export them in bond or transport them in and to a port of export for exportation; and then you ask for an opinion on three questions. In the event that hold-ers or owners of such spirits shall have failed within the seven months specified in the bond (given under the regulation of the internal revenue circular No. 282) to withdraw them in fact from the distillery warehouse a forfeiture of the bond follows, and the spirits are not protected thereafter from an obligation for a domes-tic tax. The effect of the hond while in force and before forfeiture is to free the spirits from such obligation, but this ef-fect ceases upon the furfeiture of the

"Any other construction, it is respectfully submitted, would be an evasion of the statute.

"The commissioner of internal revenue, with the assent of the Secretary of the Treasury, by circular No. 282, above referred to, has already provided for the assessment of spirits covered by trans-portation or exportation bond when they have not been withdrawn they have not been withdrawn from the warehouse within the time named in the bond for the delivery at the port from which they are to be exported, and I see no sufficient reason for disturbing this regulation. Upon the application of the principat and sureties on such bond and for good cause shown, the commissioner of internal revenue, have internal revenue may under existing regulations extend the time named in the bond beyond seven months. If the bond should become forfeited and the time should not be extended, as above indicated, the presumption would arise that the intention to export had been BROKEN TO HARNESS.

THE NEW COMMISSIONER, AIDED BY PRESI-BEST CLEVELAND'S PICTURE, STARTS OFF WELL.

Commissioner Webb occupies Gen. West's old room in the vault. On his deak, immediately on his line of sight, is a handsome portrait of President Cleveland, in a read plush case, upon an elegant casel. The picture is so placed that the eyes of picture is so placed that the eyes of the President seem to be constantly on Mr. Webb. They seem to have a merry twinkle about them, and the right eye has the appearance of being about to give a wink. It is noticed that Mr. Webb frea walk. It is noticed that Mr. Webb frequently looks at the picture, especially when he seems perplexed, and apparently he draws an inspiration from it. Mr. Webb has quickly adjusted himself to his new duties, and the thorough business way in which he dispatches mather the statement of the second secon business way in which he dispatches mat-ters gives great satisfaction. He has many excellent qualities which develop themselves daily and are duly appre-ciated by those who have dealings with him. He does not seem to have any hesitancy in grasping tough questions, and meets them in a manner that tells his listener that he knows what he is talking about. He is a good listener and reasoner, and in a few words he manages to say volumes.
